

LEAFLINE.

The modular A5 planner - digital edition

Undated · hyperlinked · right- and left-handed layouts

How this planner works

Tap any tab on the edge of every page to jump between sections

Built as a system, not a book.

Six sections behave like the packs in a ring binder: swap what you use, ignore what you don't.

Undated on purpose.

Start any week of any year. Write the dates yourself; skip a fortnight without wasting pages.

Made for both hands.

Every writing page ships in right- and left-handed versions. The lefty page mirrors the layout and moves the tabs, so nothing sits under your writing hand.

Works where you write.

Use it in GoodNotes, Notability or any PDF annotator, or print at 100% on A5 (or 2-up on A4) and file it in any A5 ring binder.

Printing & filing

For ring-binder users

Print at 100% scale (no 'fit to page') on A5 paper, or two-up on A4 and cut down the middle.

Every page keeps a 13 mm inner margin clear, so it can be punched for any A5 ring or disc system.

Align your punch to the paper edge, not to printed marks: binders differ, your punch knows best.

Left-handed pages: print the mirrored versions and file them facing the opposite direction.

About this file: an original Leafline design. Personal use licence; not for resale or redistribution.

PROTOTYPE v0.1 - internal costing build.
